again under discussion at yesterday's meeting of the Board of Estimate. Corporation Counsel Clark thought that the safest and surest way to dispose of garbage was to burn it. Street-Cleaning Commissioner Andrews said that the building of the necessary crematories would be extremely expensive, and that it would take as many crematories as there are dumps. Mr. Andrews urged his scheme for selling 2) per cent of the street sweepings for manure. Controller Fitch and President Barker, of the Tax Department, are considering the form of contract to be adopted. The matter was laid The board ordered the issue of bonds amounting Hagenbeck's trained animals at the new Hagenbeck Arena, Manhattan Beach, are becoming as Steat a "fad" as during their engagement at Tat-lersall's in this city last winter. Hardly a visitor who risits the beach considers his day of pleasure all day. The remarkable acts of Helnrich Mehr-mann's group of seventeen animals, Professor Darman's group of seventeen animals, Professor Darlings five forestbred Nubian lions, Princess Helena, the riding lioness on horseback; lions riding in charlots drawn by others, tigers on a rolling ball, sals who play on musical instruments and smoke ples, monster Siberian bears, who jump hurdles and wrestle with their trainer; bears walking tight ropes, wild boars, who do innumerable acts, are some of the many attractions to be seen in the Hagenbeck aggregation now settled for the summer at Manhattan. The attendance on Sunday was the largest of the season with the exception of that on the Fourth of July.

At the close of the jubilee celebration of the Young Men's Christian Association, held in London last week, some instructive figures were given to the consuming capacities of the "young men." In the four days wherein they were regaled with din-ner and tea in a huge tent on the Thames Embankher and tea in a huge tent on the Thames Embankment, the delegates and their friends consumed no less than 259 gallons of soup, 25,000 pounds of meatbesides a trifle of 1,000 pounds of meat pastless—900 fruit tarts, and an immense quantity of apples, bananas, oranges, etc. Of course, none but teetotal beverages were drunk, but of these an enormous amount was consumed. Of soda, in syphons, 400 dozen bottles were drunk; of ginger beer, lemonade, etc., 19,000, and of Apollinaris as many as 2,500 large bottles were drunk.—(St. James's Budget, London.

As Sunday was the opening day of the great wax shibition comprising the principals of the assessination of Carnot, the Eden Museé drew a crowd of unusual proportions. Santo Caesario, the assessing sculptured in wax, can be viewed in the cell formerly occupied by the Source of Carlyle Harris. The brown suit, working shirt and other apparel worn by the assassin are carefully duplicated and the figure has a weird historic interest. Casimir-Perier, the new President of France, stands in front of the famous group of "Crowned Heads of the World," in the central hall. This group will shortly be revised and then M. Casimir-Perier will be included among the other potentials. Carnot laid in state upon the bier of Napoleon will continue on exhibition for several weeks.

cell formerly occupied by the figure of Carlyle
